

SAMS: Self-driven Algae Monitoring System

Abstract:

The SAMS technology, developed by Retina Lab, will be presented. This system enables continuous monitoring at different geographic locations, unaffected by weather conditions and without the need for in-situ sampling.

It is used as an early warning tool, providing salmon farming operators with more reaction time to reduce the impact of harmful algal blooms (HABs).